

CRIMINALS ACTIVE.

Burglars and Thieves Landed in the Jail Yesterday.

A WOMAN'S ROOM ENTERED

By a Man Who Assaults Her—He is Also in Jail—Robbers in an Island House Who Overlook Valuable Property—A Watch Thief Quickly Captured—Slick Safe-Blowers.

Ernest Holmes, a sign painter, who tramped into town about three years ago, and has worked here ever since, was sent to jail yesterday by Squire Phillips in default of $500 bail, charged with burglarious entry. Officer Reitz testified that yesterday morning about 1 o'clock he saw a man standing in front of J. B. Will's house on North Main street. He went up to the house, and noticing that the shutters of one window were partly open, he opened them entirely and found the window raised. He therefore arrested Holmes on suspicion and took him to the city building.

Holmes was dismissed by the lieutenant in charge, and the next thing heard of him was when Officer O'Brien was approached by Susan Hennegan, the keeper of the house of prostitution at the north west corner of Twentieth and Main streets, and told that a man was in her house, and that she wanted him arrested. Holmes was captured and taken again to the city building, and later in the morning was lodged in jail.

Susan Hennegan testified that Holmes was in her house early Thursday evening and was chased away. About 4 o'clock in the morning "Pet" Reed, one of the inmates of the house, rushed down stairs to her room and told her that the same man who had been there early in the evening had come to her room and had committed an indecent assault upon her. Hennegan immediately went for a policeman.

"Pet" Reed, an inmate of the house, said she was awakened about 4 o'clock in the morning by Holmes coming into her room. He caught her by the throat and indecently assaulted her, threatening to kill her if she made an outcry. She afterward got out of the room and notified Susan Hennegan.

Both women testified that all the downstairs doors were locked, and the only way Holmes could get in was by raising a window. Holmes himself said he was drunk at the time, and that while drunk he was not responsible for his actions. He said that he went in through a door in a house that was being repaired. He wandered upstairs, went in through a doorway in the third story and found the room of the girl "Pet" Reed. He went in and lay down, but offered her no violence.

Ernest's story was considered too thin, and Squire Phillips held him for court in $500 bail. He couldn't give security and was sent to jail.

Squire Arkle yesterday fined Eugene Cotts $1 and costs for profane swearing, on complaint of Joseph Linoweb. J. K. Baily was fined $5 and costs for trespass. He was alleged to have taken a ring from a young woman and failed to return it.

HE STOLE A WATCH

And when Arrested He It and Confessed his Guilt.

Joe Davis is a colored barber who has worked for Lewis & Clemens for some time, and Charles Miller is another who came to Wheeling two weeks or so ago and got work at the McClure house shop. They both boarded with Reuben Norris, and roomed together. Yesterday Davis missed his watch, which is valued at $40 or $50, and naturally suspected Miller of having stolen it, although the evidence against him was not strong. He informed the police, and last evening Officers Lukins and Buch went up and arrested him. The watch was found on his person, and he confessed his guilt.

The man was taken before Squire Arkle, who sent him to jail to await a hearing to-day on a charge of grand larceny.

THEY WERE IN A HURRY.

Thieves Make a Small haul Where They Might as Easily Make a Big One.

During the absence of the family of Mr. McKain, of the Island, from their home yesterday afternoon, a thief or thieves entered the kitchen by raising a side window. It was probably boys as the thieves seemed satisfied with a very modest haul.

On a shelf in the kitchen were three or four dollars in small change, while above it was a much larger amount in silver, on another shelf, and in the adjoining room jewelry of considerable value was lying on a table. The change on the lower shelf was taken, but the money on the upper shelf or the jewelry was not touched. The intruders did not go into any room but the kitchen.

None of the neighbors saw anybody about, and there is no clue to the identity of the thieves.

Yesterday's Police Court.

In the police court yesterday John Huseman, who beat his wife so cruelly the day before, was fined $50 and costs, and in default of payment was sent to the hill for six months. Louis Schmelle, also a wife beater, was fined $10 and costs, and not having the money, went to the hill for sixty days. P. T. Lafourcade, the Philadelphia clothing manufacturer, who was sick from the effects of dissipation, was fined $1 and costs and sent to the county jail for ten days to get over his spree. Thomas Janewi, the lame Italian, was fined $2 and costs and paid, while two vagrants were let go to leave town at once. Another vagrant was given thirty days on the hill. May Dillon, for being out after nightfall, paid a fine.

Charged with Forgery.

Yesterday a boy named Dan McCleod, aged sixteen or so, was arrested and lodged in the Eighth ward "station house" on a charge of forging an order for $5. He went to a boarding house with an order purporting to be signed by one of the boarders. He is said to be the same boy who worked this sort of a scheme with considerable success at Martin's Ferry, and was arrested for it. McCleod was arraigned before Squire Arkle, and was committed to jail in default of $500 bond.

Released on Bail.

Nelson Foster and Earl Carroll, the two young colored men accused of buncoing a man out of a sum of money, were arraigned before Judge Paul yesterday on an application for the reduction of their bail, and after examining into the merits of the case the Judge entered a vacation order reducing the bail to $100 each. They gave bond, with Henry Bayha as surety.

Safe Blowers at Work.

Night before last burglars entered the jewelry store of Banet & Son, at Manningstone, blew open the safe in a manner which showed they were professional artists in that line, and got away with $10 in money and about $200 worth of jewelry.

THE FAMILY MARKET.

The Season a Little Late, but things Coming in all Right.

CABBAGE IS A DRUG IN THE MARKET

While some Fruits and Vegetables are Scarce and High, and Everything is late in Ripening for Use. The Banana Trust is Overdoing Things.

The family market of Wheeling is famous far and wide for the fine fruits and vegetables which it affords and the reasonable prices which prevail. Ordinarily by the first of July the season for fruits and vegetables is nearly as far advanced as it now is. The damp and cold spring retarded things badly. For instance, tomatoes, on which Wheeling beats the world, are just becoming plentiful. This week they sold at $1 a bushel. By the end of next week they probably will not bring more than half that price.

Corn, also, was late, and the first really good roasting ears made their appearance this week. Both corn and tomatoes are kept up in price here by the enormous sales to the canners and catsup makers.

The feature of the market is the abundance of early cabbage. It is so cheap it scarcely pays to bring it to market, the grower getting 75 cents a barrel for it, and yet gardeners down about Parkersburg ship it here and undersell the home grower.

Cucumbers are poor and scarce, and have been all season. They sell at 15 to 20 cents a dozen, twice as much as they usually bring at this season.

Celery has begun to come from Colleyville, alias Kalamazoo. Potatoes are large and fine, and are retailing at 20 cents a peck. Green peas are 30 cents a peck, and string beans 15 cents.

Cauliflower is about as plenty as cabbage since the recent wet weather and heat following, and it never was finer. Some heads are as big as cabbages, and they are cheap at 15 cents, while smaller ones bring a nickel.

Melons, too, are late. So far not a home grown cantelope has been seen, and not many from Indiana and Tennessee. Watermelons will not be ripe for several days yet. The fine ones now in market at 25 to 35 cents are from Indiana.

Nice little pears from the St. Clairsville vicinity are selling at $2 or over a bushel. Fine home peaches are in, at 15 cents a quarter peck, and upward according to size. Apples are 40 to 50 cents a peck, and good ones are not abundant at that.

Blackberries are down to 50 cents. At that price they just net the picker 25 cents. They were lower, but pickers would not work for less, and the supply fell off, and the price went up a notch. They are too plenty.

Huckleberries are better worth the 15 cents a quart they cost than blackberries the half-dollar for eight quarts. They last longer, too, and will be cheaper after while.

There are no cherries worth speaking of, and the promise for plums is not good. All the gooseberries and currants sold here this year came from Cleveland, but were as cheap as the home fruit usually is. There bids fair to be plenty of grapes, but in these days of fast and cheap freights the local grape crop is not very important, the York state and lake grapes being brought here at lower prices than the nearby fruit used to sell. The first grapes made their appearance on the fruit stands this week.

Oranges, lemons and bananas are always in good demand, regardless of the supply of other fruits. Oranges average about 50 cents a dozen now, and lemons 20 cents. Bananas are kept up in price by a combine of eastern dealers, and the local dealers do not handle more of them than are actually demanded by the trade. They retail at 20 cents a dozen. One or two dealers have entirely quit bringing them, and one was badly bit on a car load recently. The trust is overdoing the thing, and there will have to be a break.

THE PRICE OF CANNED GOODS

Will not be Much Above Last Year's—A Big Tomato Crop.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch had an article the other day, saying that the cost of canned goods this season would be much enhanced this year, owing to the poor crops all over the country, and that the canners were thirty days behind the usual time of commencing.

Wheeling jobbers don't seem to anticipate much of an increase in price. One of them said to an INTELLIGENCER reporter yesterday that canned goods might cost a little more this year, but the small advance per dozen or per gross would not be appreciably felt by the consumer. He had not heard of any alarming shortness in the crops, and he believed there would be a bountiful supply of canned goods. Last year's crop was unusually large and prices very low, and a small increase in the price would be nothing compared with the rates that ruled in former years.

Flaccus Bros. say that the tomato crop is about two weeks behind. Growers say the plants promise to bear well, and all that is wanted to insure a crop even larger than last year's is a continuance of the warm weather and an abatement of the cold nights.

THE CRACK CLUB

Of the Campaign to be Organized by Republican Young Men Next Tuesday Night.

The Republican young men of Wheeling and Ohio county have been talking of organizing a first class marching club for the coming campaign, and have finally settled on next Tuesday evening as the time and the Central Republican Club rooms as the place of organization. All young Republican desirous of becoming members of the best equipped and best drilled organization should be present promptly at 8 o'clock.

Many former members of the Plumed Knights will of course be enrolled, and these with the many first voters will make quite a large club. The uniform to be adopted will be an attractive and comparatively inexpensive one. The Central club room is in the Lutz building, just north of the postoffice, and all young Republicans should be there next Tuesday night.

THE LINE TO BE BUILT.

Street Cars to the State Fair—A Survey of the System begun.

The new owners of the Wheeling street car system yesterday decided to build the much talked of line from the west end of the steel bridge down Penn street to the state fair grounds. It will, if at all possible, be completed by the opening of the annual fair the first week in September.

Yesterday Engineer F. L. Hoge began the work of surveying the whole street car system, with a view to determining the length, quantity of rails and ties required to rebuild it, and ascertain if the grades conform to the legal grades of the streets at all points.

A Journalistic Horticulturist.

Mr. W. C. Beans, city editor of the Register, dawned on the force in the INTELLIGENCER sanctum last night with a box of peaches grown on a six-year-old tree of his own planting on his place on the Island. They were of the early Crawford variety, and he gathered half a bushel of them yesterday and there are lots more left. They were beauties to look at and luscious to devour. Peaches measuring 9 inches in circumference were plucked from the tree this year, and none of those brought to the INTELLIGENCER was under six inches. As a horticulturist Mr. Beans is certainly in it. If anybody can beat his peaches off a town lot he is a dandy.

An Unfounded Rumor.

The rumor that the steamer Olivette had sunk was unfounded, as shown by the following special dispatch to the INTELLIGENCER, from Steubenville:

There is no foundation in the report that the Olivette had sunk this side of Brilliant. The boat arrived at ten o'clock, after being aground for an hour and a half, at Cox's Ripple, below Mingo Junction. Considerable anxiety was felt here, as the boat had on board the First M. E. church excursion.

They Went on Horseback.

Twelve young society gentlemen took a horseback ride out to Mantlestown via Martin's Ferry and back via Bridgeport, last evening, taking supper at the Wayside Inn. On their return they reported a splendid time, but most of them seemed to feel sore over something that occurred on the trip. One of the members of the party at the start pegged out shortly after crossing the Ohio line and returned.

Bowling at the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Stollenwrick, of the Island, entertained a few of their friends in an enjoyable manner by giving a delightful bowling party last evening at the park, complimentary to their charming guest, Miss Julia Stollenwrick, of Birmingham, Alabama. A number of good scores were made, one lady member of the party making 300 points, the highest possible score.

She Committed Suicide.

Mrs. F. C. Roe, at Watkins, left this letter: "My husband—Forgive me if I cause you trouble, but I suffer so. You do not know what these long, wakeful, wretched nights are to me, and I am so tired, darling—the pain will never be better. It is not easy to take my own life, but I have been sick so long. Good-bye, my husband, I love you—your wife." This is but one of thousands that gives up, instead of using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, and being speedily cured of their wretchedness. Go to Logan Drug Co. and get an elegant book and trial bottle free.

MEN'S AND YOUTHS' SUITS—D. GUNDLING & CO.

WAGES OF SUCCESS.

Odds and Ends and "broken lots" are like thorns in the midst of our trim and tidy stock. But they are the natural consequence in a great, busy house like ours. The bigger the season, the heavier the crop of Remnants. We have done such a rushing, hustling business that we have already passed the highest mark in our history. It finds us over-run with the lingering fragments of our best and choicest lines.

THIS WEEK we are going to pay the tribute we owe to prosperity. This week every department will be "fairly alive" with bargains, for we have gathered together all the "short lots" and marked them at prices so far below actual value that they'll move quickly into the service of wide-awake, appreciative buyers.

MEN'S AND YOUTHS' SUITS.

Our stock of Men's Suits—owing to the very large variety we have had this season—shows more odds and ends than any other department. This means a great saving to you and more to select from.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS.

"One good turn deserves another." You've given us such a good season in our Boys' Department we are going to celebrate the success. You shall have a choice from among favorites. We have torn away prices by the handful from dainties and necessities that were already hugging close to the shore of cost. But your appreciation shall not outdo ours.
